

Abstract

A parking management system and method is disclosed wherein a user of the system can reserve or bid on a parking space within a parking facility or participate in a loyalty program whereby the user is rewarded for using the parking management system of this invention.